

Classroom-based Safety Measures

The CNet team would like to reassure customers that it continues to regularly monitor any changes in Government advice as well as continuing with precautionary safety measures for classroom-based programs.

All Classroom-based Programs

We respectfully ask all learners to:

- ▶ Continue to test with lateral flow tests two or three times a week.
Lateral flow tests are available on site if required
- ▶ Regularly wash or sanitize your hands.
Additional sanitizer and face masks are available if required
- ▶ Cough or sneeze into your elbow, or into a tissue and dispose of it straight away
- ▶ Avoid touching your face

Network Infrastructure Programs - Classroom-based Safety Measures

- ▶ Where possible practical exercises continue to be modified to reduce social contact
- ▶ You will be issued with your own hi-vis and safety glasses as applicable
- ▶ Additional sanitiser, tissues, wipes and gloves are all available on site for your use

As with any Health & Safety policy, it is vital that you take personal responsibility for your own personal safety as well as the safety of others, and to adhere to any current guidance in place.

If you have any queries or concerns regarding safety within our classrooms, please do contact us to discuss.
