Re: Certified Network Cable Installer - CNCI®

The ECA is the leading trade association for the electro technical systems sector, in which a high proportion of firms are involved with the installation of IT network infrastructure.

The CNCI programme provides a high standard of learning and working practices as required by today's network cabling professional. This enables contractors to demonstrate their competence, apply the appropriate standards and offer a good level of assurance to their clients.

The programme also facilitates entry to most leading manufacturer partner programmes, providing the fundamental knowledge and skill base without the need for further duplication of training, reducing the cost burden to ECA members.

The ECA backs this CNCI formal training initiative and will continue to work closely with CNet to influence, support and represent this important growing sector.
